Opening Plenary

Is the Hospitality Industry Innovative?

Ted Teng, President & Chief Executive Officer, Leading Hotels of the World

Monday, March 27 • 8:30 - 9:45 a.m.

How innovative can the hospitality industry actually be? What is our capacity to engage in out-of-the-box thinking? Is it possible to “push the envelope” or is the nature of our business relegating us solely to small incremental improvements? Mr. Teng will answer these questions and more as he shares his thoughts and experiences regarding innovation in our industry. Certain to be provocative, he'll discuss when it's possible to innovate, what it will take, who needs to get involved, what type of leadership is required and more.

- SESSION ►
- Confirm the extent to which the industry can actually innovate
- TAKEAWAYS
- Identify the likely drivers or disruptions requiring change or innovation in our industry
 - Understand and leverage the concept of “scale” in innovation

The Ever-Changing World of Workforce Technology: Where Are We Going?

Jason Averbok, Author, Analyst, Thought Leader, Keynote Speaker, Consultant

Monday, March 27 • 10:30 - 11:45 a.m.

We live in a world characterized by continuous change. This is especially true when it comes to the ever-increasing pace that technology is being introduced into the work world. However, we often equip our guests with better technology than we provide our own workforces. Simply put, this pattern is unsustainable. To become or remain “employers of choice,” it is critical to understand the enabling role technology will likely play in the workplace of the future. Jason Averbok, a world renowned consultant, analyst and visionary, will walk you through what is important now and into the future, as we shape the role of HR and, importantly, technology as a valuable enabler.

- SESSION ►
- Thrive in the ever-changing “perfect storm” of new workers, new technologies and new demands on HR
- TAKEAWAYS
- Leverage technology to optimize the experience for employees, HR and the organization
 - Identify key skill areas that HR and organizations will need to thrive in the future, including design thinking, data management and storytelling

Learning and Innovation Stories From Around the World: The Future for the Hospitality Industry

Kimo Kippen, VP of Global Workforce Initiatives, Hilton Worldwide

Tuesday, March 28 • 8:30 - 9:45 a.m.

Learning and development leaders have chosen their field because they want to help people grow. Similarly, people have selected to work in the hospitality industry because they have a desire to satisfy the needs and wants of their guests. The two together comprise a workforce that wants to serve community with growth opportunities, passion and a sense of citizenship. No one knows this better than Kimo Kippen, former CLO and now VP of Global Workforce Initiatives for Hilton, who travels the world to discuss learning and innovation and to bring back stories of how new and different approaches to learning are changing the way we live. He'll share how to focus on your people to ensure they have the resources, support and confidence they need to achieve their career goals and company-wide objectives, plus make an impact in the communities where they live and work.

- SESSION ►
- Identify fundamental shifts, disruptions and emerging trends in learning
- TAKEAWAYS
- Leverage the over-connected employee, high potentials and frontline staff
 - Blend company objectives with employees' personal goals

These much-anticipated attendee favorites return!

 - Understand the high-level solutions and strategies being discussed now at your own organization

LGBT Rights in Hospitality: Challenges and Opportunities

Cleve Jones, AIDS and LGBT Activist
 Tyronne Stoudemire, Vice President of Global Diversity and Inclusion, Hyatt
 Moderator: Beth Livingston, Assistant Professor of Human Resource Management, Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations; Member, Athlete Ally Advisory Board

Wednesday, March 29 • 10:30 - 11:30 a.m.

This very important and timely session features a moderated conversation between nationally prominent gay rights activist Cleve Jones and Hyatt's VP of Global Diversity and Inclusion, Tyronne Stoudemire. Jones, an associate of Harvey Milk, founder of UNITE-HERE's Sleep With The Right People advocacy group, and the subject of a February 2017 ABC miniseries, and veteran diversity leader, Stoudemire will engage in a robust conversation focused on making the industry friendly for both LGBT employees and guests. This conversation will be sure to delve into areas of policy, process, organizational culture and more.

- SESSION ▶ TAKEAWAYS
- Learn how to create and maintain an inclusive environment for LGBT employees to improve productivity and job satisfaction
 - Understand why conforming to Human Rights Campaign standards is a first step to successful LGBT Human Resource policies
 - Hear how UNITE-HERE's Sleep With The Right People is poised to promote inclusive policies and to expose discriminatory practices

Reimagining the Guest Experience

Rick Garlick, Practice Lead, Global Travel and Hospitality, J.D. Power & Associates
 Kimberly Rath, President and Co-Chairman, Talent Plus

Monday, March 27 • 1:15 - 2:30 p.m.

A guest experience can be world-class regardless of price point. When you select individuals with a natural propensity for service, they care about guests and create loyalty. When individuals are in a job they love, led by an adept leader, they are not only great employees, but also great family and valuable community members. Two seasoned team creators will explain how to pinpoint the measurable talents of employees who can create guest experiences that electrify customers, make CFOs happy and contribute well beyond organizational boundaries.

- SESSION ▶ TAKEAWAYS
- Recognize the potential of your employees and scientifically measure their talents to align with business objectives
 - Build a culture of engagement that translates into phenomenal guest feedback, increased employee retention and profitability
 - Apply case studies of growing guest satisfaction to achieve significant business results

HR1

Cultivating a Culture That Loves to Innovate

Erin Moran, Chief Culture Officer, Union Square Hospitality Group

Monday, March 27 • 1:15 - 2:30 p.m.

Innovation and growth do not have to come at the cost of an organization's cultural integrity. Erin Moran will discuss the mindset shift that has allowed Danny Meyer's renowned Union Square Hospitality Group to implement outside-of-the-box initiatives like Hospitality Included, which eliminates tipping, as a means of doubling down on corporate values and advancing the culture of Enlightened Hospitality with its focus on friendly, perk-filled service.

- SESSION ▶ TAKEAWAYS
- Exhibit a commitment to social purpose to appeal to the young workforce
 - Develop an authentic culture of innovation that evolves in a thoughtful and systematic manner
 - Apply lessons learned from successful initiatives currently under way at USHG

HR2

Exploring Image Standards Through a Modern Lens

Holly Lawson, Corporate Director of People & Culture, Pivot Hotels & Resorts
 Jason Pruzansky, Davis & Gilbert LLP

Monday, March 27 • 2:45 - 4 p.m.

In the image-based hospitality industry, many HR professionals have taken a second look at their guidelines and grooming standards. Some of these considerations are driven by compliance; others by the changing expectations of the Millennial workforce. An attorney and an HR leader team up to tackle the issue from both sides, and address the issues surrounding how to ensure your image standards are upheld as you adjust to current trends and legislation.

- SESSION ▶ TAKEAWAYS
- Understand current legislation that may impact your image and grooming policies
 - Implement best practices to accommodate protected employees
 - Identify the current workforce's views and preferences on image guidelines

HR3

Human Capital Investment Management and the Organizational Fingerprint as Distinctive Competitive Advantages

Keith Friede, Area Vice President, Talent & Organization Development, North Central Region Practice Leader, Arthur J. Gallagher & Company

HR4

Monday, March 27 • 2:45 - 4 p.m.

Improving your employment value proposition can help you more effectively attract, retain, engage and develop talent. While many organizations focus primarily or even exclusively on cost control, top-performing organizations focus more strategically on maximizing return on talent investment (ROTI) through an integrated process of assessment, targeted asset allocation, differentiation and personalization of the rewards package and performance-driven metrics. Learn how to adopt strategically-oriented human capital investment management, create an intentional and distinctive “organizational fingerprint” that gives you competitive advantage in hospitality talent markets, and optimize your ROTI.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Employ the principles and process of human capital investment management
 - Align rewards with employee needs and preferences to design and implement a distinctive EVP that attracts, retains and engages talent
 - Move from a primarily rewards cost minimization approach to an ROTI approach

Death of the Guess: Making Data-Based Decisions

Whitney Martin, Survey and Assessment Strategist, ProActive Consulting
Harold Morgan, Senior Vice President, Human Resources, White Lodging Services

HR5

Tuesday, March 28 • 1 - 2:15 p.m.

Lurking beneath administratively burdensome systems that create an appearance of rigor, “hope,” “best guesses,” “gut feel” and other subjective criteria continue to weigh heavily in people decisions. However, business leaders are mandating that HR adopt more evidence-based approaches to decision-making. How can you infuse better data into key decisions throughout the employee life cycle? And how can you measure the positive impact that HR is having on the metrics that matter most to the business? Explore how assessment tools can be used for everything from hiring to leadership development.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Explain the benefits of evidence-based decision making
 - Leverage various types of assessment tools to provide more objective data
 - Apply data to improve onboarding, succession planning and team creation

The Latest and Greatest in HR Tech Solutions

Luke Fryer, Founder and CEO, Harri.com

HR6

Tuesday, March 28 • 1 - 2:15 p.m.

Keeping up with advancements in HR technology can be a full-time job. Beyond simple awareness, understanding how to leverage HR technology in the hospitality sector, in particular, is a key ingredient and driver of business success. Hear about recent developments in HR technology, and identify ways to leverage the latest innovations for a wide array of business intelligence and functional decision making.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Understand the latest HR technology trends in the hospitality industry
 - Identify how technological advancements can enable business processes and organizational success
 - Determine the appropriate technology for your specific HR purpose

Creating Culture as a Movement Empowered by the Chief Change Officers — Your HR Team

Gary Magenta, Senior Vice President, Root Inc.
Gina Valenti, Owner Services and Hampton Brand Culture & Internal Communications, Hilton Worldwide

HR7

Tuesday, March 28 • 2:30 - 3:45 p.m.

The changes occurring in the hospitality industry are mind-blowing. The last decade brought shifting trends from competitors, consumers and technology alike. Yet, amidst that noise, Hampton by Hilton, in a 13-year partnership with Root Inc., achieved an unprecedented level of owner and team member engagement across its brand, in a primarily franchised environment. How? Together, they unleashed “Hamptonality,” the company’s differentiating culture and a crucial component in Hampton’s success. Hear how three primary ingredients — Culture, Empowerment and Authenticity — enabled this leading brand to create a customer-first culture, empower team members to act like owners and create authentic experiences.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Create an employee-first culture to create customers for life
 - Build customers for life by using a simple three-step framework
 - Explain how your HR leaders can become culture champions

Labor and Employment Relations Under a Trump Administration

Richard Hurd, Associate Dean for External Relations, Professor of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations
David Sherwyn, Professor, Cornell University School of Hotel Administration
Moderator: Professor Harry Katz, Dean, Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations

HR8

Tuesday, March 28 • 2:30 - 3:45 p.m.

With a new administration and a new Congress, the administrative agencies that enforce labor and employment policy may not continue to be the drivers of policy and change. How will the change in administration affect the agencies? Will the NLRB continue to be the driver of labor law reform? Will the Department of Labor continue to push the joint employer doctrine? You’ll get the answers to these and other questions during this lively panel discussion.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Understand the impact that the DOL and NLRB have on your organization
 - Predict DOL and NLRB plans moving forward
 - Identify adjustments you can make to policies and procedures due to agency priorities

Learn about the latest HR strategies straight from leading consultants including:

- Jason Averbook, Independent Consultant
- Whitney Martin, ProActive Consulting
- Gary Magenta, Root Inc.
- Kimberly Rath, Talent Plus

Employment Law Update

Barry Hartstein, Shareholder, Littler Mendelson P.C.
Celeste Yeager, Shareholder, Littler Mendelson P.C.

LAW1

Monday, March 27 • 1:15 - 2:30 p.m.

It's been a busy year for the EEOC with new procedures and cases involving transgender, sexual orientation and religious accommodation issues. HR professionals need to stay on top of recent developments and clearly understand the practical ramifications. Here's your opportunity to get on top of these must-know developments, as two legal experts discuss the implications for your HR practices, policies and programs.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Review the most recent accommodation cases
 - Understand the EEOC's priorities regarding discrimination
 - Incorporate the latest holdings into your day-to-day operations

The "Unconference": FLSA Legal Think Tank

Carolyn D. Richmond, Co-Chair, Hospitality Practice, Fox Rothschild LLP
David Ritter, Partner, Barnes & Thornburg

LAW2

Monday, March 27 • 1:15 - 2:30 p.m.

You set the agenda for this lively, interactive session covering FLSA legal issues, case law and current requirements for hospitality employers. Two legal experts will facilitate discussions to give you the solutions you need when it comes to the latest on minimum wage, overtime pay, audit preparation and review, compliance and recordkeeping, and more.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Understand the most relevant recent FLSA case law
 - Comply with current federal and state jurisdictional requirements
 - Implement the latest approaches for audit preparation and review

The New Wage and Hour Regulations

Harold Morgan, Senior Vice President, Human Resources, White Lodging Services
Carolyn D. Richmond, Co-Chair, Hospitality Practice, Fox Rothschild LLP
Jeffrey Ruzal, Senior Counsel, Epstein Becker Green

LAW3

Monday, March 27 • 2:45 - 4 p.m.

How are companies dealing with changes in the minimum salary for exempt employees? How are HR departments and managers working through the challenges of off-duty work like email and texts? How are companies setting up bonus structures, tracking hours and responding to flexible workweek requests? Our panel of hotel employment law experts will detail their successes and challenges related to these topics, and offer up valuable actionable insights for your company.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Understand the latest legal advice on minimum wage rule changes
 - Navigate off-duty work challenges successfully
 - Implement flexible workweeks and compensation

Grinding Along: The Continued Evolution of "Joint Employer"

Harry I. Johnson, III, Partner, Morgan Lewis
David Sherwyn, Professor, Cornell University School of Hotel Administration
Christian White, Associate General Counsel, Litigation, Labor and Employment, North America, AccorHotels

LAW4

Monday, March 27 • 2:45 - 4 p.m.

Joint employer issues continue to evolve. There are now class action wage and hour lawsuits against franchisors such as McDonalds, because employees incorrectly believed they worked for the franchisor. Moving forward, employers and franchisors must analyze joint employer issues when making any decisions regarding leased employees and/or franchisees. You'll learn if the franchise model can still work, whether it is still cost-effective to lease employees, and what the administrative agencies might do under the new president.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Know the latest information on the current, fast-moving status of the joint employer doctrine
 - Identify how employers are specifically addressing the ever-changing doctrine
 - Understand where this doctrine is heading and what employers can do to prepare

Arbitration After the "Epic" Decision

Holly Lawson, Corporate Director of People & Culture, Pivot Hotels & Resorts
Robert Mellwig, Senior Vice President, Really Cool People, Two Roads Hospitality
Jason Pruzansky, Davis & Gilbert LLP
Paul E. Wagner, Shareholder, Stokes Wagner

LAW5

Tuesday, March 28 • 1 - 2:15 p.m.

A former employee of Epic Systems Corp. recently won a second round in his lawsuit, contending the healthcare software maker improperly denied him and other workers overtime pay. The Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling could make it easier for workers around the country to press claims for overtime. The court ruled that employers cannot require workers to agree to individual arbitration in disputes involving overtime pay. The decision, which contradicts decisions by other appellate courts, affects agreements that bar workers from participating in collective or class-action lawsuits for wage-and-hour claims. Four seasoned arbitration policy drafters will discuss what clauses, if any, will allow class action waivers to survive NLRB/judicial scrutiny.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Explain the significance of the Seventh Circuit decision
 - Identify contradictory decisions by other appellate courts
 - Set forth how employers can still implement a class-action waiver

You Know the Law — How Do You Put It on Paper?

Milet Lukey, Vice President of People Operations, SH Group Operations, LLC, Starwood Capital
 Hayden Pace, Shareholder, Stokes Wagner
 Celeste Yeager, Shareholder, Littler Mendelson P.C.

LAW6

Tuesday, March 28 • 1 - 2:15 p.m.

Settlement agreements, arbitration policies, joint-employer avoidance and non-competes — making sure your documents say what you want them to and, more importantly, do what you want them to, is not always an easy task. Let these legal experts plot you a course through the maze of paper confusion to create documents that are structured, thorough and straightforward.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Identify the documents that HR drafts and processes which have employment law consequences
 - Understand how changing laws are affecting legal documents
 - Bring back to your organization clear rules and templates for each type of document

Unions 2017: Recent Developments

Michael D'Angelo, Vice President, Labor Relations, Hyatt Company
 Michael Lebowich, Partner, Labor-Management Relations, Proskauer, Rose, LLP
 David Rothfeld, Partner, Kane Kessler, P.C.
 Steven Swirsky, Member of the Firm, Employment, Labor & Workforce Practice, Epstein Becker Green

LAW7

Tuesday, March 28 • 2:30 - 3:45 p.m.

New organizing efforts, tactics and law, and renewed emphasis on elections. For years, the hotel industry has been the “holy grail” of the union movement because “you can't move all your hotels to Mexico.” Despite this fact, union density in the hotel industry hasn't grown even with the union's successful 2006 negotiations. Employers argued that the union had nothing to sell, while unions argued the system was rigged. Now, the NLRB has changed the system. Elections are quicker, the law has become more union-friendly and income inequality has become regarded as a national problem. Hear how these most recent developments will impact the hotel industry and whether unionization will rise in the hotel industry.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Identify what law changes have occurred and how they affect you
 - Describe how employers are reacting to the changes
 - Understand whether unionization is poised to increase or decrease in the hotel industry

Individual Liability in Employment Law

Kalley Aman, Esq., Shareholder, Buchalter Nemer P.C.
 Ruth L. Seroussi, Of Counsel, Buchalter Nemer P.C.
 Donna Wanser, Vice President, Legal, Panda Restaurant Group

LAW8

Tuesday, March 28 • 2:30 - 3:45 p.m.

Are you and your managers personally liable for employment law violations? This is not a question that should arise after a violation. You and your company need a transparent and effective process that protects your managers before problems arise. Three legal experts will provide the answer and structure to clearly identify individual liability under the law.

- SESSION TAKEAWAYS
- Understand the legal concepts of individual liability
 - Identify the day-to-day effects of individual liability on workers and companies
 - Avoid individual liability for supervisors

Increase your ROI

The only way to get every piece of guidance available at HR in Hospitality is to bring your entire HR team so that each staff member:

- Learns how to respond properly to legal issues — so time and money aren't wasted on avoidable lawsuits
- Gets guidance on their specific responsibilities, so your entire department functions flawlessly
- Hears the same expert insights, making it easy to gain buy-in for important new HR initiatives
- Can network with other attendees — meaning more opportunities to find working solutions to your problems and to stay competitive in the market

Best of all, it's affordable! See page 15 for deeply discounted team rates.

Gain even more value from your trip

Instead of planning a costly corporate event, hold a private meeting before or after the conference to discuss company-specific issues and further encourage team-building among staff members who work at different properties. We'll help make all the arrangements! Just email HRinHospitality@lrp.com to get started.

Nation's Only Hospitality HR Expo

It's a great place to network, make new professional contacts and expand your industry knowledge. Plus, you'll see the latest solutions from leading vendors of HR products and services for the hospitality industry.
